

Data protection information for the implementation of regular, free antigen self-tests for the detection of SARS-CoV-2

Updated: 22.04.2021

With the amendment of the Infection Protection Act, participation in face-to-face classes is only permissible for pupils and teachers who are tested for infection with the SARS-CoV-2 coronavirus using a recognized test on a twice-weekly basis if appropriate protection and hygiene concepts are adhered to.

A variety of personal data of the person tested is processed in connection with the execution of the tests. We would like to inform you about this data processing below:

1) Data controller

The school carrying out the test is the data controller

2) Data protection officers

The contact details of the responsible data protection officer for the respective school can be obtained from the school or viewed on the school's website.

3) Data processing

The following personal data is processed in connection with regular antigen self-tests:

- Name, contact details and date of birth of the person tested,
- Health data: test results

Due to the fact that the tests are carried out in class and the measures to be taken in the event of a positive result (e.g. termination of class participation, collection by custodians), it cannot be ruled out that the test result will become known in class or in the school community.

If self-test is positive, the school management will transfer this data to the relevant health department.

The data processing occurs exclusively for the purpose of determining acute infections and preventing and containing the spread of COVID-19.

The legal basis for data processing is consent pursuant to Art. 6 para. 1 lit. a) GDPR. The legal basis for the transmission of the data to the health authority is the existence of statutory reporting obligations according to Art. 6 para. 1 lit. c), Art. 9 para. 2 lit. i) GDPR in conjunction with Sections 6, 8 Infection Protection Act (IfSG).

4) Retention period

The data will be stored by the school for a period of four weeks after the date on which the antigen test was carried out and then deleted.

5) Rights of the data subject

With regard to data processing, you are entitled to the following rights for data subjects. To exercise your rights or if you have any questions about data processing, please contact the respective school directly.

a) Right to information

According to Art. 15 GDPR you can request information about the personal data processed.

b) Right to rectification

If the information concerning you is (no longer) correct, you can request a correction according to Art. 16 GDPR.

c) Right to erasure

According to Art. 20 GDPR, we will provide you with the personal data concerning you and provided by you in a structured, common and machine-readable format on request, so that the data can be transmitted to another data controller without hindrance.

According to Art. 21 GDPR, you have the right to object to the processing of your data at any time for reasons that arise from your particular situation.

f) Right of appeal

If you are of the opinion that data protection regulations were not observed when processing your data, you may lodge a complaint with the responsible supervisory authority.
